What is claimed is:

- A method of selecting a pacing site on the heart comprising:
  entering the pericardial space with a pacing lead having an asymmetrical pacing electrode;
- 5 manipulating the lead inside the pericardial sack while taking pacing thresholds at multiple location on the heart;
  - selecting and attaching the lead at one of said locations.